Reaching for the stars

In the village of the orphaned kids, the children were eager to learn and were encouraged to pursue their artistic dreams. Six years on, a project.

A girl of six or a thirteen-year-old took my hand and explained she was already in art school. She had written a poem about a girl in a red dress. She had written a poem about a girl in a red dress. She had written a poem about a girl in a red dress. She had written a poem about a girl in a red dress. She had written a poem about a girl in a red dress. She had written a poem about a girl in a red dress. She had written a poem about a girl in a red dress.

The kids at school were excited. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress.

The kids at school were excited. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress.

The kids at school were excited. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress.

The kids at school were excited. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress.

The kids at school were excited. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress.

The kids at school were excited. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress.

The kids at school were excited. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress.

The kids at school were excited. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress.

The kids at school were excited. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress. They had never seen a girl in a red dress.